Shanghai Banking Corporation are to be congratulated upon the flourishing condition of that institution. The report laid before them at their meeting yesterday was a most satisfactory one. There is a perceptible increase: in the net profits, compared with those of the corresponding six months of last year, and though the dividend declared is the same as then the amount placed to credit of reserve fund is larger by fifty thousand dollars. The directors have acted wisely in building up a new reserve fund. This fund has now reached the respectable sum of six hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and by this time next year will probably be increased to million, the amount which it is desired, we believe, by the directors it shall stand at. The report of the directors was, under such circumstances, brief and to the point, and the meeting did not take long to consider it. When things are going prosperously with commercial corporation there is no occasion for net profit for the half year of nearly 7 per cent. discussion, and the shareholders have nothing but formal business to go through. The the profits realized under such circumstances directors had very satisfied faces to confront yesterday, and the Chairman's duty was a pleasant one enough, for he had an excellent account to give of the position of the corporation. THE Sin-pao has given currency to an unfounded story calculated to create a prejudice. I think the shareholders generally agree with me, against foreigners among the Chinese. In a that the present board of directors possess what recent issue it gave a circumstantial account of the shooting of a child by a foreigner. It asserted that the foreigner, who was out shooting, passed through a village near the Pagoda. in the neighbourhood of Shanghai, when a dog rushed out at him barking viciously and following him up. The foreigner is said to have lost his temper, fired at animal, and to have accidentally killed a boy of seven years, who happened to be in the line of fire. The sportsman, greatly startled at the effect of his shot, decamped precipitately. The child's mother, filled with grief and despair at the sight of her dead boy, went home and hanged herself. Intelligence of the tragedy was sent to the husband, who was a dealer in Shanghai. He hurried home, but too late to save his wife. He was urged by his friends to carry the case before the City Authorities, but as there were no eye-witnesses of the affair, and the name and address of the foreigner were both unknown, he was unable to do so, and had to bear his wrongs in silence. All this turned out, on inquiry, to be a pure fiction. only has a correspondent of the N. C. Daily a box also containing 1,500 cash. THE RIVER'S WAY. Twas born among the mountains. That river clear and bright;

It leaped, and flashed, and foaming, dashed Down from the misty height: It left the lefty peaks behind, And sought the plains below. Where, softly kissed by sun and wind, Its level waters flow.

And from its limpid wavelets The thirsty cattle drink, And children play, and lovers stray Upon its flowery bring; Amid-life's sweet and homely things I watched it glide along,

Oh, thou whose soul is pining Nonrer to God to be. Stand not above the common love And toil He-asks of thee; Come downward to the haunts of men,

And ever in my fancy rings -

The murmur of its song.

And do a simple part, Thy lowly wave shall win His praise And draw thee near His heart." -Sarah Daudney, in The Quiver.

ARREST OF THE KING OF DELHI. back to the palace, in which they were ledged to waiting on themselves.—Leisure Hour. as prisoners. Next day this fiery and indefatigable officer went in search of the two sons and grandsons of the king-the chief inciters of the Delhi atrocities, who were concealed in the tomb, and surrounded by a multitude of armed scoundrels from the city. The time was not one for hesitation or delay, so the fearless Hodson, with his own pistols, their bodies conveyed to the city and hanged up in the Kotwallee, or Mayor's Court, being literally, as in the Hebrew story of old, exposed at the gates of the city. There they remained in view of the people, till sanitary reasons required their interment. Several months after, the king was tried by a military court in the Imperial palace, and found guilty of the massacre-of the British in Delhi and levy of war upon the Government. Lord Canning spared his forfeited life, but sentenced him to be transported to Burmah: and thus ended the Royal line of Baber. three hundred and thirty-two years after he had ascended the Mogul throne.-From
